HHMH 2015 CALENDAR

The HHMH Calendar Committee would once again like to invite the temple members to provide creative works of art for the Hongwanji calendar. The works of art may include photos, drawings, poems, and even pictures of things likes sculptures and pottery. The pictures will need to be able to be enlarged to an 8x10 photo quality. We have found that cell phone pictures often do not work well for this calendar project. For each submission, please include your name, temple, and a paragraph with your reflection or thought that describes how the picture relates to AWARENESS.

The deadline for submissions is September 9, 2014. If you have questions, please leave a message for Yumi Suzuki at the Hongwanji Headquarters Office at 522-9205 or email to hqs@honpahi.org.

Message from Rev. Bruce Nakamura

NEMBUTSU FOR ME, NOT FOR ANCESTORS

As long as I live and have my “marbles,” I’ll often think about my grandparents who fill my life with their presence, care and love. It’s no wonder that Buddhists created a rich spiritual season for family and communal life in the Obon months of June through August. Buddhism adopted early Asian practices that sought blessings of bountiful harvests with offerings to the nature spirits of the sea, forest, the valleys and mountains coinciding to bless family, health and bounty from their ancestral spirits.

The celebration of past and present, the unity of the deceased and the living—all come together in the religious ceremonies and cultural practices of the Obon season. These timely events sustain the dynamic and beautiful renewal of life’s seasons and cycles. Loved ones take the opportunity to renew their spiritual life in the love, sacrifices and care of the deceased in the Buddha’s Compassion – Nembutsu—embracing all without fail. Namo Amida Butsu.

Fri-Sat, August 1 & 2, 7:00 pm Hatsubon-Bon Service in the columbarium

7:30-10:30 pm Bon Dance Festival on the Lihue grounds

August 9 Saturday, 9 am Lihue Cemetery Hatsubon-Bon Service

10am Kauai Memorial Cemetery Hatsubon-Bon Service

A final note of invitation: Requests for Hatsubon-Bon family services at residence, cemetery, columbarium or care homes shall be honored and scheduled on a first-come-first serve basis.

Taylor Nishimoto

The reason I first started going to church is because when I was in preschool, we would visit Reverend Kondo at the temple. I thought it would be fun to go one Sunday for a service, so I did. Ever since then, I've been going with my grandma, and I love it. Another thing that played a big role in me wanting to keep going to church is that the people were very welcoming and kind to me. They are like my second family. Even though I originally just wanted to see Reverend Kondo, it grew to something greater. I learned about the Buddha and much more. When Reverend Kondo said she was going to leave, I didn't know if I wanted to keep going to church, but she persuaded me to stay and meet Reverend Nozaki and his wife. I ended up loving them and I hoped that they would never leave. I would always go to church tired, but when I saw them, I immediately had a smile planted on my face. When they left, I never ever wanted to go back again. I started to cry because they were a part of me now. I never forgot how they looked and I write to the Nozakis every now and then. Now we have Reverend Nakamura. I am still going, so you can tell that he is a very good reverend.

I like the fact that everyone has an opportunity to do different things in the church like being the M.C. or ringing the kansho. We get to experience new things. For example, the Dharma School went to Honolulu for Peace Day and the Sadako Sasaki Dedication. We also went ice skating and shopping. I also like to go to Dharma School after the service and learn more about the Buddha as well as other projects we do in our computer class. Another thing that I love about going to the temple is hearing the dharma talks and meeting guest speakers.

Going to church has taught me to try my hardest to be kind and accepting of the world and its changes. Also, going to the temple has taught me that we are all one family. Everyone should try to be peaceful, and if everyone is peaceful, then life would be better because there would be no violence.

When I say I'm a Buddhist, I think of the way that I live my life. Sometimes, when students tease others, I'll tell them that what they're saying isn't Buddhist-like. I try to follow the Golden Chain and be kind and gentle to every living thing. If I'm upset or angry, I try not to take it out on others. I make myself calm down by just sitting in my room and thinking.

Buddhism has played a huge role in my life. If I didn't meet Reverend Kondo, I wouldn't be here and I would have missed out on so many new experiences. I never would have learned about the Buddha or met so many new and kind people.

We celebrate Hanamatsuri on April 8 because it is Buddha's birthday, and it is his teachings that we follow. He is the reason we're here today.

Address Delivered By Mr. Pieper Toyama, Honpa Hongwanji President (presented at the Aloha Luncheon, May 10, 2014)

ptoyama@honpahi.org

Thank you everyone for your presence here today. Alton and I are deeply appreciative of your support. This afternoon I would like to take this occasion to outline the four priorities I have set for myself as I enter this office of the presidency of the Honpa Hongwanji Mission of Hawaii.

First, I intend to solidify gains made by Alton's leadership over the last six years.

My second priority is to support ministers and lay members in their efforts to experience the working and importance of Namo Amida Butsu in their daily lives. To this end, I would like to explore simpler ways of understanding and articulating how the Nembutsu is connected to our everyday experiences whether they be bad or good, sad or happy, depressing or exhilarating. I would also like to explore ways for us to more fully experience the profound effects of the gratitude that calls forth the Nembutsu to our lips. Western psychology is only now beginning to uncover the psychological, emotional, and spiritual effects of the gratitude experience and I would like to relate that research to Shinran's teachings to strengthen our message and make it relevant to new generations of followers and prospective followers.

My third priority is to explore ways in which to support our ministers and the bishop so they will be able to more fully meet the personal needs of members and the organizational needs of their temples and the kyodan. I would like to work directly with ministers, the office of the bishop, the Kyodan personnel committee, and temples to insure that they are compensated adequately now and into the future for the work that they do; that they understand their benefits to which they are entitled so they can plan for their respective futures; that the conditions under which they work allow them to actively participate in the raising of their families; and that they are afforded opportunities and means to maintain their physical, emotional, and spiritual health.

The fourth priority is to facilitate organizational changes in two areas to make our religion more responsive to the needs of the members as well as the needs of temples to better sustain themselves and more responsive to the suffering and inequality that plague our communities.

As an introduction to the first organizational change I would like to pursue, let me list the various components in our current structure that govern our organization. The structure includes Giseikai, the Kyodan board, its officers, commissions and committees, by-laws, district organizations, the lay association, budgets, policies and procedures, tradition, temple politics, the Ministers Association, Sanmu-Kanji, the Office of the Bishop, and Honzan. Many will agree that this structure is slow to develop and implement change. That is why my priority for the first organizational change is to find ways to streamline our structure so we can deal with governance issues and developmental issues through quicker but more thorough research, discussions, and actions. I plan to share more details of my thoughts for approaching this challenge of bringing our structure in line with the realities of the 21st century after I assess the lay members', the bishop's, and ministers' appetite and readiness for change. I welcome any thoughts on this priority from members and ministers. I am sure there are many out there who have been monkuing about our structure for years. This is your chance to weigh in.

The second organizational change I would like to explore is the development of an additional path completely outside of the established structure (which I outlined previously) for people, especially young people, with good and creative ideas to enter into the process of change. I would like to provide a path for them to not only articulate their ideas but also a path for them to engage in the implementation of their ideas. This path will be designed so any two or more people who share a good idea and the enthusiasm, commitment, and creativity to articulate that idea can find a path to implementation with ease. I have worked out an outline of this path and would like to meet with the minister's association and each district to introduce it before presenting it the Kyodan Board in August.

If anything I have said in the last few minutes makes you want to jump out of your chair and support these priorities, let me know. Let's get started. Again thank your for your support and the honor of this position.
