Rice Roundup!

The Rice Roundup that was held at Lihue Hongwanji on Saturday November 14 was a fantastic success! We are so thankful to our members and our community for the support of this project to collect rice for the Kauai Independent Food Bank.

We collected 216 bags of rice, far exceeding our goal of 100 bags of rice. This translated into a total of 3,325 pounds of rice donated to the food bank.

In addition to the rice donations we received many monetary donations from both members and community.

We are grateful to Dennis Fujimoto, The Garden Island, for including an article in the newspaper which created an interest from the community for both rice donations and monetary donations.

Thank you to Lynette Mizuo for the idea that kick-started this Rice Roundup project and to the following volunteers who came out to help collect the bags of rice as the cars drove through: Wayne Fujioka & Carol Valentine, Kenneth & Lynette Mizuo, Reynold Lee, Lynne Matsumura, Dennis Muffly, Dwayne Muffly, Kris Nakamura, Taylor Nishimoto, Mason Doo, Madison Doo, Taryn Ramil, Colleen Nonaka, Carol Ozaki, Blaine Sasaki, Glenn & Gail Shibuya, Lawton & Naomi Sugihara, James Yamamoto and Morton & Carolyn Yamasaki.

Thank you to the following people (in alphabetical order) for donating rice to the Rice Roundup: Debbie Akana, Arthur Chow, Anne Coyle & Jennifer Jones-Patulli, Linda Ebesu, Arlene Fujikawa, Wayne Fujioka & Carol Valentine, Diane Fukuyama, Megan Gayagas, Kathy Gerrish, Frank & Arlene Harada, Shirley Hashimoto, Richard & Misao Higashi, Avis Hirahara & Gerald Miller, Karen Hiranaka, Joy Hiraoka, Alice Inouye, Tom & Eleanor Kajiwarra, Kay Kano, Eric & Sidney Kato, Ed & Leesha Kawamura, Craig & Lori Koga, Emery Kondo, Mildred Konishi, Stan & Jolene Kono, Hiroko Kurashige, Jean Kurosaki,

Science

It is amazing that even in this age, the imagined conflict between secular belief and science still goes on.

Lately I have heard a lot of talk in the media as to whether we should be guided by what authorities say and do (Government) or listen to the scientists and follow their advice. It has been shown that some people will readily follow what authority figures do and say. One of the Trump supporters was asked by news media why he did not wear a mask and use social distancing and the person pointed out that since the President does not wear one, it must not be necessary, despite all the medical advice and warnings etc.

Science has never been at odds with religion or religious beliefs but it seems religions have been at odds with science and some consider it a threat to their belief systems.

Buddhism has no argument with science as its principles like Karma, causes and effect have no conflict with scientific thought. Causes and conditions, which surround all events, lend itself to science perfectly.

Just this past week though I saw someone interrupt an interview and demanded proof that the COVID19 virus exists, I hope he never finds out. Some folks have to touch the flame in order to know that fire is “hot”. I thought “Man, where did this guy come from?” But then there have always been people like that. They have to see, to believe.

More recently I read about some unfortunate COVID19 patients who, to their dying breath, denied the reality of the virus. People’s lives are a product of their experiences therefor we cannot judge.

Reading about all these different attitudes I reflected and decided that it seemed as if some people were letting other people think for them, even make decisions for them. Considering this I thought about my own parents and realized that my parents did not raise me to have other people think for me, or make decisions for me unless it required a specialist’s opinion and even then, the final decision was mine.

The problem with allowing other people to think for you or make decisions for you is that you surrender your life to them. Our lives are our inheritance from our parents and therefor are precious. All the effort our parents put in towards raising us to adulthood is not to be devalued, but gratefully treasured. All the efforts of our many teachers, both in and outside the classroom, to teach us how to think, consider and reason, has to be used, nourished and strengthened so we can see the reality of living our lives.

When the Shakyamuni Buddha revealed the Four Noble Truths, he acknowledged the suffering in this life, reveals the cause, offers salvation and prescribes the medicine. Buddha did not do so as an act of judging humankind but as a compassionate pathway to awareness and freedom and it is ourselves who have to walk the path, no one else can do it for us. Namoamidabutsu

BISHOP'S CORNER

A suggestion for "Perpetual Chanting of the Sutras (Eitaikyo)"

If you had to choose a word that you associate with the month of November, what would it be? Not surprisingly, for many of us, it would probably be "gratitude." Needless to say, Thanksgiving is the biggest holiday in November and expressing "thanks" is the theme. An important observation is that the 1621 first Thanksgiving Observance brought diverse people together in particular the Pilgrims and Native Americans, the Wampanoag.

For many Buddhists of the Japanese denominations and in particular the Jodo Shinshu Tradition, November is the month that we annually observe Eitaikyo, one of our six Major Services of the year. It is an important service dedicated in memory of past generations of deceased loved ones. The general sentiment is one of acknowledgement and appreciation. In many cases, the hard work and sacrifices of previous generations have benefited we of the present generation for which we are grateful and this includes having a temple, a place where we can safely, harmoniously and gratefully gather to hear the Teachings of All-Inclusive Wisdom and All-Embracing Compassion finding guidance, solace, comfort and inspiration. Traditionally donations received at an Eitaikyo Service where placed in a special fund for a specific purpose to either repair, renovate or replace the temple altar and building and/or for propagation in hopes that the temple and the Dharma will always be available for future generations. People contributed to this special fund in memory and in honor of deceased family members for whom the temple was their second home, a place of "Perpetual (Eitai) Chanting of the Sutra (kyo)" referring to a place where the sutras could be heard and the teachings internalized.

This year, as we observe Eitaikyo, I have a thought for you. "Would you consider sharing with your family members how important and valuable the Buddha's Teachings including the temple are to you?" It saddens me greatly when I hear younger generations say that they did not know how important temple was to their parents, grandparents or great grandparents or did not know just how involved they were at temple. I recently came to know of an interesting custom done by the Jewish. It is called an "Ethical Will." It is not a legal document. In Wikipedia, I found the following "Celebrity physician Andrew Weil promoted the ethical will as a "gift of spiritual health" to leave to family, asserting that the ethical will's "main importance is what it gives the writer in the midst of life." The goal of writing an ethical will is to link a person to both their family and cultural history, clarify their ethical and spiritual values, and communicate a legacy to future generations; it addresses people's "universal needs". Writing an ethical will clarifies identity and focuses life purpose." Interesting, isn't it? I personally prefer the expression "Legacy Letter."

Thus, at this time of the year, as we observe Eitaikyo, would you consider sharing (either written or orally) your religious life and spiritual values as a Jodo Shinshu Buddhist with the other members of your family? Please observe Eitaikyo Family Day in which Eitaikyo is a family affair. You can start with your Family Register or Kakocho which contains some information of your most recently deceased family members. The Kakocho can serve as a genealogy record of your family and from there you can also share about temple and Namo Amida Butsu. The Eitaikyo season can be a time to link or bring together past and present family members in appreciation of each other just as the original Thanksgiving brought diverse peoples together in the spirit of gratitude. For others, please take the Eitaikyo season to discover your temple's origin and history to more fully appreciate it. Of course, the most important story to be shared is the legacy of Namo Amida Butsu. Please have a safe Thanksgiving and meaningful Eitaikyo.

Thank you and Namo Amida Butsu.

Past Ministers and Presidents

The precious photos of our past ministers and past presidents, from 1900 to the present time, have been hidden from public view for many years. It was time for them to be displayed for everyone to see. Jimmy Yamamoto, our Archive Committee, agreed to create a tribute to those special people. The photos will be displayed in collage form, framed under glass and displayed in the Social Hall.

Many thanks to Jimmy for taking on this project, doing research and making such a wonderful design with all of the photos. Mahalo goes to Laraine Moriguchi of Sign Art for printing the posters and for donating the first of the three posters to Lihue Hongwanji. Another Mahalo goes to Jonathan Tom and the Art Shop, on Akahi Street, for giving Lihue Hongwanji a 20% discount off final cost of framing the three posters with beautiful wood frames including the glass. The final product looks beautiful and honors all of the past ministers and presidents with beauty. Thank you to Jimmy Yamamoto, Sign Art and the Art Shop for creating this honor. They will be displayed with pride.

IMPORTANT

Important Meeting!
Your Attendance is Crucial.
December 13, 10:15 am
Annual Membership Meeting

Please all attend and have a voice in the future of your temple! The Annual Membership meeting will be held in the temple to allow for appropriate physical distancing. All safety precautions will be followed, including face mask and temperature taking.

The meeting will follow the Birthday/Monthly Memorial service for December. At the required Annual Membership meeting, there will be proposed Bylaws changes which include Membership, Board of Directors structure and changes that will allow electronic meetings and voting.

You may request that the proposed changes be emailed to you in advance by sending an email to lihuehongwanjimission@gmail.com, or by picking up a copy at Shaku Kaufmann's office. Please call him in advance to arrange a time.

General Cleanup

Due to the pandemic and the current gathering restrictions, there will be no temple-wide General Cleanup this year. All group leaders have been informed of the changes in this year's cleanup event. Each group leader will be forming their own list of participants, with no more than 10 participants indoors, & inform them of their selected date & time. Members will be contacted by the group leader for cleaning. The pending group schedules are: social hall window cleaning, kitchen cleaning, Aiki Kai Dojo, and roof & concrete power washing. We are expecting a completion target deadline of the end of the 1st quarter of 2021. Please help when you are called for a part of the cleanup of our temple.

Thank you for your understanding and your patience!

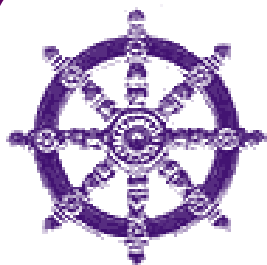

LHM Preschool

Cards filled with “thinking of you” messages were made by the children & teachers at the LHM Preschool and will be mailed to the residents and staff of The Life Care Center of Hilo in time for Thanksgiving. A kupuna relative of one of the teachers is a resident there and the center has been in the news recently because of their COVID cases. The good news is that their COVID cases have recovered and presently there are no new cases.

Friends of the preschool heard about the card-making project and joined in to make cards, including Wilcox Elementary School children, Kauai High School Student Government leaders, Kauai Pop Warner players. Enough cards were made to share with all 170 residents. Large cards were decorated by our children to thank the 200 employees of The Life Care Center. This was a lesson to be kind to one another and to be grateful to those who take care of us.

Bodhi Day

Bodhi Day this year will be on Sunday December 6 at LHM for our members. There will be no island-wide gathering and celebration this year. Instead, the Kauai Buddhist Council has created a virtual Bodhi Day Service for each temple to share with their members.

At LHM, we will show this Bodhi Day video at our 9:00 am service on December 6. Please join us for our Bodhi Day Celebration.
